THE AMERICA WILL DOCK THIS P. M.

(By Associated Press)
Boston, April 5.—The Transport America, bearing the second contingent of Yankee division troops, was within a short distance of this port early today. She reported by wireless that she would arrive off Boston Light about noon and would dock at Commonwealth Pier at 2.30 p. m. Brigadier General Geo. H. Shelton of the 51st Infantry Brigade and the 101st and 103rd Infantry regiments are aboard. Major General Edwards received a greeting from Col. Logan of the 101st. The General replied "Many thanks for your kind message. You cannot be happier than I am to have your splendid men back again." Gen. Edwards and staff went down the harbor to meet the transport.

(By Associated Press)
Boston, April 5.—Fifty-eight hundred conquering heroes of the Yankee Division swarmed over the side of the transport Mt. Vernon today and boarded trains for Camp Devens, the first of which pulled out from Commonwealth Pier shortly after 8 o'clock. Maj. General Edwards appeared at the dock early this morning. As soon as his automobile was sighted by the men of his former command a shout arose that could be heard a mile away. As Gen. Edwards boarded the ship the men rushed forward to greet him with hand shakes and cheers. "I have been telling the parents of some of you men that you are 200 percent better than when you went across," said Gen. Edwards. "When you went across you were the pick of this country. The future of the country is in your hands and the country has no fear. I have no fear. I am sure you will live up to the aspirations of your parents and to my expectations of you. This is the biggest thing that has come to me in a long, long time, this reunion with my lads." The General's reunion with officers who formerly were members of his staff was equally as enthusiastic as that with the men of the division. The returning men had breakfast aboard the ship and then went ashore to find representatives of welfare organizations awaiting them with food, hot coffee, cigarettes, candy boxes, newspapers and telegrams for them to send to home folks.

The men in addition to their arms carried their packs weighing from 50 to 75 pounds and many of them were laden with souvenirs from the battle field. Representatives of the state and welcoming committees were at the pier, but only a few appointments for there were no formal welcoming exercises. The baggage brought over by the Mt. Vernon had been taken off over night. The men read with satisfaction statements in the papers that arrangements had been completed at Devens to put them through the demobilizing process as rapidly as possible with the prospect that several hundred at least would be able to start for their homes on furloughs within 48 hours.

The transport America from West with 7200 boys in khaki arrived at noon today. All of the 103rd Infantry except Companies L and M, which are coming on the Agamemnon recalled chiefly in Maine and New Hampshire, were aboard.

EX-CON. WHITMAN TO HEAD DRIVE COMMISSION

Boston, April 2.—Col. Adam Clifford, provincial commander of New England today announced that former Governor Charles Whitman of New York will be National Chairman for the Salvation Army Home Service Fund Campaign in its drive from May 15 to 25 to raise $15,000,000 for extension of its rescue work and service to the deserving poor man, necessary by the drain put upon the organization by the war and the overwhelming popularity that has fallen to the lot of the Salvation Army since the doughboy first went under fire in France.

"I am sure that you have overestimated the value of my influence and the personal service I shall be able to render this worthy effort," said Governor Whitman in his letter of acceptance to Commander Evangeline Booth. "It would be difficult, however, for you to overstate the warmth of my personal respect and affection for the Salvation Army and its leadership. This admiration on my part dates back to the period when as a magistrate I came to know intimately that fine combination of the practical and the ideal, that mingling of spirituality and consecration, with industry, integrity, efficiency and simplicity, characteristic of the Salvation Army."

The members of the army, and those of us who have been intimately acquainted with it, outgrow long ago recognized the qualities which it has displayed so conspicuously during the past two years in connection with war service at home and overseas. It is true however that there were millions of Americans who did not know those qualities of efficiency, frugality and devotion which were displayed in France.

The Salvation Army has millions of new friends many of them eloquent witnesses of what was done for them under the most trying conditions. It is right that this record should have its reward when the only reward asked is the privilege of continuing home service in an expanded scale governed by the same ideas and sustained by the resources of the American people.

Col. Clifford says that everywhere leaders of commercial and financial life are organizing and that the New England quota of $2,250,000 will go over with a bang.

"When the Twenty-Sixth Division arrives in Boston it will bring thirty thousand boosters for our cause," said the Colonel.

"If you have any doubt about the Salvation Army just ask the doughboy who has come back from France. He knows."

RESERVES WILL BE OUT WHEN PEACE IS SIGNED

Washington, April 4.—Because of the failure of Congress to enact the naval appropriation bill, with its provision for an increased naval personnel, practically all members of the naval reserve force on active duty must be released immediately upon the declaration of peace.

In making this announcement today, the navy department said that because of this fact and of the great need of officers, due both to the continuing activities of the navy and the shortage of regular officers, it would be inadvisable generally to accept the resignations of reserve officers. Many of these officers have asked to be permitted to return to civil life, but attention is called by the department to the fact they are under obligation to perform active duty with the navy for a period of no later than six months after the termination of the war. Resignations will be accepted, however, as additional officers are appointed in the temporary permanent naval force.

FIFTY YEARS OF BIG ADVERTISING SUCCESS

Philadelphia, April 4.—A half century of advertising history was brought to an auspicious close here tonight by one of the largest assemblies of advertisers, advertising men, publishers and captains of industry ever gathered together. Nearly a thousand of these leaders of the advertising business celebrated the fiftyth anniversary of the founding of N. W. Ayer & Son, the oldest advertising agency in the country, by a banquet in the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

The event was notable, not only because of the influence of the guests present, but because it marked a milestone in the progress of one of the most respected and powerful of constructive forces in American business. It brings to the minds of those who have been associated with the advertising business since its early beginning, the part played by N. W. Ayer & Son in building it up.

The speakers at the banquet were: Victor Lawson, publisher of the Chicago Daily News; Earl B. Harkness, president of the American Sugar Refining Company; N. C. Kingsbury, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company; Edward W. Hight, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal; Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car Company, and members of the firm, Albert G. Bradford, Jarvis A. Wood, Wilfred W. Fry and William M. Armstrong. P. Wayland Ayer, who, with his father, Nathaniel W. Ayer, was the original founder of the firm of N. W. Ayer & Son, is now the active head of the business presided as toastmaster.

One of the features of the public was the presentation of a portrait painting of P. Wayland Ayer to the organization. The presentation was made by Alfred G. Bradford, a member of the firm. Mr. Ayer was then presented with a testimonial of appreciation signed by all of the guests present and employees of the firm. The testimonial, in the form of an elaborate bound and illustrated autograph book bore the inscription:

"To P. Wayland Ayer, who made a motto and has lived it, who evolved a principle and has practiced it, who set an ideal and has attained it. Tribute was paid to the memory of Henry N. McKimney, a member of the firm who died April 18, 1916. Mr. McKimney was associated with the firm for forty-two years and was recognized by advertisers and publishers alike as the foremost developer and seller of advertising in the country. Perhaps the best known of his advertising creations is United Benefit, but that is only an example of his genius which was applied to scores of articles and service in many lines to which advertising had never been applied. A bronze tablet on which was inscribed 'His constructive genius and tireless energy made inextinguishable contribution to adequate recognition of the power of advertising' was presented to the organization in memory of Mr. McKimney.

Numbered among the guests at the banquet were representatives of each of the clients of N. W. Ayer & Son, and the four hundred employees of the firm. Page boys and page girls were ranged behind the chairs of the speakers as living 'place cards.' Enclosed behind the chair of Mr. Taft was a living picture of G. O. P.

Behind Mr. Dock, of the Ladies' Home Journal, was 'Color Page' in black-face make-up. Plying Mr. Jordan, of the Jordan Motor Car Company, was 'Miss Play Boy' in charlotte 'Jordan Arrow' costume. Behind Mr. Kingsbury, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., stood a 'lineament.' Mr. Babst, of American Sugar Cane, was announced by a package of 'Domino Sugar.'

The history of N. W. Ayer & Son as told by Mr. Ayer, recalled to publishers and advertisers present, many of whom had been in the business for over fifty years, the early struggles of advertising for a respected place in business. At the time the agency was founded in 1869, advertising was confined to a very few lines such as patent medicines, tobacco, seeds and agricultural implements. There were only a very few great daily newspapers and the monthly magazines were unknown.

N. W. Ayer & Son started without employees. In seven years there were twenty, in 1903 they numbered 200, and today they number nearly 400. The firm early adopted the motto, 'Keeping Everlastingly at It Brings Success' and with a beginning of $15,000 the first year, today it points to an annual business of many millions. Within ten years it had taken the lead among advertising agencies and in the amount of business placed, and has kept it ever since. Since its founding the agency has paid to publishers more than $100,000,000.

EX-SAILOR DROWNED AT PORTLAND

Portland, Me., April 4.—The body of a man, with the arms tightly clinging to the lower part of a pile, was found at low tide today beneath Galt's wharf. In a pocket was a registration card bearing the name of John E. P. Hynde, 645 Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester. Medical Examiner George I. Gear said the body had been in the water for about six months. He advanced the theory that the man had fallen off the wharf, had reached the pile and his strength failing, had secured a death grip on it. An honorable discharge button from the United States navy in the lapel of the civilian clothing, when traced back in the local recruiting office, indicated that the button was issued nearly a year and a half ago. In the pocket was a gold watch and small sum of money.

STORY-TELLING FOR HAPPINESS

By Carolyn Sherwin Bailey, author of 'Tell Me Another Story,' 'What to Do for Uncle Sam,' etc. The children whose names have been touched by the world have been called upon to make the supreme sacrifice of childhood, that of joy. If they are to be well and strong and efficient men and women, they must be helped to find happiness in new values and new forms. Tell them stories that will help them to create their own joyousness in spite of economic and less play time.

The fairy tale of Dumps suggests a picture through keeping cheerful.

What Happened to Dumps.

Once upon a time there was a queer little elf named Dumps who lived all by himself in a dark little house down in a valley. Ever since he could remember, things had gone wrong with him. He shivered in the cold and kicked the coal bucket when the fire wouldn't burn. He howled when he stumbled over his own dinner pots that he had left sitting in the middle of the floor and he howled in his front door and howled when the other happy elves went by, without speaking to him. His and his family had lived like that for years. When any elf wanted to describe something very bad he could say it was 'Down in the Dumps' and so Dumps went on without a single happy day.

But the elves decided, suddenly, to give a party. Oh, it was going to be a jolly jolly party indeed, and Dumps heard about it. Almost every elf who wanted to describe something very bad he could say it was 'Down in the Dumps' and so Dumps went on without a single happy day.

But the elves decided, suddenly, to give a party. Oh, it was going to be a jolly jolly party indeed, and Dumps heard about it. Almost every elf who wanted to describe something very bad he could say it was 'Down in the Dumps' and so Dumps went on without a single happy day.

Wood Fairy suggested, Dumps had never thought of doing that. His fellows were stiff, but he blew them very hard and, crackle there was a nice bright fire and his kettle began to sing. "Is that all?" asked the Wood Fairy. "Oh, no!" Dumps sighed, "the other elves are giving a party and I am not invited."

"It is for all the elves and you don't have to be invited," the Wood Fairy said. "Stand up straight and let me brush your suit. Now run along, my dear."

So Dumps started up the hill to the party, laughing all the way for he just couldn't stop. You see he had no many years of being one of the Dumps to make up for. He laughed until all his wrinkles were gone and he was pulled out with happiness. He started bees buzzing and grasshoppers chattering and crickets chirping, and a whole crowd of yellow butterflies flew along with him.

"Who can this new, fit, cheerful elf be?" asked all the other elves as Dumps arrived at the party, turning a double somersault into their midst. "We are all here except Dumps, and of course this isn't he?"

Then Dumps showed them how he could turn back considerably, and make a bee-line out of a risk leaf. He taught them how to play baseball with white clover heads, and how to make a swing of braided grasses. He surprised himself with all the good time he was able to think up.

"Of course, this isn't Dumps," the other elves decided. "His name must be Delight," and Dumps never told them their mistake, for it wasn't really a mistake at all. Now, was it? (Highly to reach all the parents of the country by cutting this out and passing it onto a friend.)

But the elves decided, suddenly, to give a party. Oh, it was going to be a jolly jolly party indeed, and Dumps heard about it. Almost every elf who wanted to describe something very bad he could say it was 'Down in the Dumps' and so Dumps went on without a single happy day.

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, April 5, 1919.

A Bold Step Contemplated.

In the Massachusetts Legislature two bills are pending which provide for a rate of fare on the Boston Elevated Railway less than the cost of rendering the service, the deficit to be made up by direct taxation. In order to ascertain whether such legislation would be constitutional the Senate called upon the State Supreme Court for an opinion. This has been submitted by the court, and it is that the legislation would be constitutional. This is based on the ground that the railway is operated for a public purpose. The court says: "It commonly has been held that stockholders of such corporations who have wisely and honestly invested in property actually used for the benefit of the public are entitled to a reasonable return upon their investments."

Nevertheless this is a new and startling doctrine. The building and operation of street railways has been entrusted to corporations in the past and these corporations have pocketed the profits that have been derived, as they had a right to do. And it is known that in the past these profits have been large in the case of many of the roads. But of late years the increased use of automobiles and increased costs of operating the railways have reduced the profits to a point that has become troublesome to the stockholders, who now it seems, at least in the case of the Boston Elevated, are trying to shift the burden to the shoulders of the public.

This proposition may be good law, but it will be difficult to convince the public that it is justice, save for one possible exception. Of late years the law has had a good deal to say about how such transportation systems should be operated, being prompted thereto by the demands of the public, which have steadily increased in numbers and vociferousness. There have been all sorts of complaints about the lack of accommodations and the rates of fare. People have "hollered" because there were not enough cars and a seat for every passenger. In response to this clamor the law has compelled the companies to steadily increase their facilities, and in the meantime the costs of operation have advanced greatly through frequent and generous increases in the wages of employees. The result is that in some cases the line has been reached where profits disappear and the companies are looking for a solution of the problem that confronts them.

And for this they are not to be blamed. Stockholders can not be expected to smile when the management of their business is virtually taken out of their hands and the business conducted in a way to make reasonable returns impossible.

After all, direct taxation for the support of street railway systems, especially in the big cities, would be a long step in a direction which the people of this country should not be willing to face. There is something radically wrong when a system like the Boston Elevated fails to pay reasonable returns on the investment, and the wrongs should be righted before the people of the city are called upon to make up deficits to be paid through the tax collector.

This particular case is Boston's concern, but it is of general interest because if such a system is adopted there it will be liable to spread to other cities and states whose tax burdens are already quite heavy enough.

There is an unlimited supply of "talk timber" in the League of Nations, which is to be debated in Peterboro April 11 by United States Senator Moses of this state and Professor George G. Wilson of Harvard University. How much effect the debate will have on the work of the Peace Conference is problematical, but it will afford a good entertainment for Peterboro.

State troops have been called upon in Virginia to guard agents engaged in enforcing the prohibitory law, the work having become very strenuous of late. The country is about to enter upon a stupendous undertaking, but it is to be hoped it will not have to be backed up by armed forces.

The service men at the radio station on the Isles of Shoals will certainly appreciate the graphophone sent them by Secretary Bailey of the Y. M. C. A., albeit there must be times when the instrument will be unable to compete with the hoarse voice of Old Ocean.

A man has been arrested in New York on the charge of saying he would kill President Wilson for $1.50. The thugs of the country must sincerely hope he will be sent to the chair. It is impossible that they would stand for any such cut price for murder.

Chicago voted overwhelmingly "wet" at its election a few days ago, but just what satisfaction it can get out of the performance it is difficult to understand.

In the Glasgow district the miners have accepted the terms of the government. In this country the government accepts the terms of the miners.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

One Democrat's View Of Wilson

(From the statement by Henry Waterson, veteran Democrat and noted editor in the Philadelphia North American)

I think events, helped along by the President himself will verify my forecast that he is not merely a candidate for a third term in the White House, but that for a nomination to such he holds all the winning cards in his hands.

The Democratic party, so called, has long ago abolished, having previously much debauched it. Nothing of it survives except the tattered label, and he holds that betwixt his thumb and forefinger, I am inclined to believe, however, that he has eliminated the United States from his immediate activities as an established conqueror and is now giving his mighty thought to the sublimation of the world.

A virtuous, right-minded man thus situated would emulate the humility of a Washington and the humility of a Lincoln. Mr. Wilson sees nothing but himself and his personal exaltation; lives for nothing except his own advantage; seeks nothing save power and authority; the concrete things of rulership represented by the regal splendors and feudal glories, which, though somewhat faded and faded, will go on about him.

As a consequence of his maladroitness Europe will find itself in the middle of the coming summer in flames. Then we shall have him home again urging intervention. It has been his mission in life to make trouble wherever he appeared.

When the great Jehovah interjected such a sinister spirit into our affairs it must have been to punish us for our manifold delinquencies as a nation and a people.

We should steer clear of European complications. Never has there been a time when the admonitions of Washington, Jefferson and Monroe carried greater weight. Mr. Wilson's mediocre mind and colonial vanity have already carried him far to sea. It is ours to look to it that he does not carry the country to the shipwreck of its institutions.

What Laws Were Enacted.

(From the Concord Monitor)

While none of its works will live long after it, the Legislature of 1919 has passed into history. As a whole its work was of an excellent character, and, although there were a few striking scenes, there was nothing approaching the extreme in any direction.

Probably the most important enactment was the direct (or graduated) inheritance tax. It is figured that this will result in an increased revenue in 1919 of about $100,000, although it is hoped it may reach $200,000. After good working order is established the increased return to the state is expected to be about $400,000 per annum.

From the theoretical standpoint the new educational measure is of the greatest value to the state, but definite results cannot be established for several years. There are many features to be worked out and numerous phases are of a more or less experimental character. If matters evaluate as the sponsors of the bill hope there is no doubt that much benefit will accrue, but the question of expense in the matter is of import and in the final analysis the cost of the new system will be balanced against the good accomplished.

For future tangible benefit the new corporation laws arouse great expectations. The bill was very carefully drawn by capable hands and is expected to put New Hampshire in a class with states where the statutes are liberal enough to enable reliable business enterprises to secure the advantages desired, but yet will protect investors and stockholders. The radical features of New Jersey, Maine and Arizona have been eliminated, but the strength and consistency of New York and Massachusetts are retained to a remarkable degree.

By many the latest experiment in the control of state institutions is viewed with distrust. While the new bill embodies several good features, it is felt by many that the elimination of the strength contained in the 1917 provisions was a mistake and that it was not wise to return to the old-time failures of previous plans. Still, public opinion should be held in abeyance until the latest scheme has had a chance to be thoroughly worked when criticism, favorable and unfavorable, should be heartily welcomed by both sides for the good of the state.

The soldiers were recognized, but not compensated, for their services in the law giving them $20 bonus.

The new bridge across the Piscataqua can be paid for during the years to come and it is likely that sufficient time will elapse before its completion to permit the state to get on its financial feet after war-time expenditures. Uncle Sam's request for a stringent Bolshevik law was complied with.

Cider was put in the same class with other beverages containing a percentage of alcohol sufficient to cause intoxication and Jamaica ginger is not to be sold except on physicians' orders. It is still illegal to sell a beverage any part of which is intoxicating and, after May 1, it will be illegal to have it in possession. This applies to ginger ale and other so-called temperance drinks which contain even a trace of alcohol. The purple blue was adopted as a state flower and, while the need of a distinctive blossom was felt, the selection required a good deal of time and rented some feeling. One of the great advantages is that the time of other legislatures will not be taken up by his subject.

Agricultural affairs were given special attention and $50,000 was appropriated for the carrying out of new methods which are expected to prove of great benefit. The agricultural school was aided to an unusual extent and an old debt that has been hanging fire for several years was paid.

Fire preventive arrangements were made for public institutions.

The salaries of several state officials were increased, but generally speaking there was an effort made to check a raid on the state treasury in this respect.

No material change was made in the bill forbidding fractures of the laws relating to the observance of the Lord's day, but it is not unlikely that this will be the subject of commission investigation for the attention of the next Legislature.

The provision to establish a normal school at Manchester was voted down, although the city agreed to pay substantially one-half of the amount necessary.

The highway department may be supervised by the Governor and Council, but no adverse action can be taken without a public hearing.

An appointed attaché of the insurance department can attend to the preliminary duties of the office in the absence of the commissioner.

Several proposed measures to increase taxes, such as an income tax and a tax on intangibles, were left for the Constitutional Convention to consider.

Ways and means were provided for the attorney-general's department to collect inheritance taxes.

Highway improvements are to be conducted on a large scale, as appropriations were made to enable the state to take advantage of federal aid to a large amount.

Generally speaking the work of the Legislature must be regarded as of a character fully up to the average. An impression prevails that, in view of the abnormal conditions of the times, much experimental legislation might have been delayed for future action, but the hope of increased receipts from various sources justified, in the opinion of some of the leaders, completion of undertakings this year.

PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Editor of the Herald

Dear Sir:

Recently I saw an automobile carrying a light of red and green; red on the Port or left, and green on the Starboard or right, as a ship does. It struck me as a very sensible idea, and if adopted Nationally would be a great help to Autolots on the road.

If the above could be drawn to the attention of your readers and the Public asked to give opinions on it it might prove an idea that might soon be adopted in general.

Respectfully yours,

OSWALD.

Is Receiving Hearty Greetings From Friends.

Rev. Rollin S. Tuttle, pastor of the local Methodist church, is passing a few days in this city, coming from Pittsburg, Pa., to be present at the services on Sunday, when the marriage on the church is to be honored.

Rev. Mr. Tuttle has been released of his duties since the last of January, having been sent to the Pittsburg area as a field representative of the Methodist ministry men, organizing and coaching the lay workers all over the area, which includes the West Virginia, the Erie and the Pittsburg conferences.

There now are mobilized about 1000 ministry men. Mr. Tuttle has been meeting different representative groups nearly every day in different localities and will leave next week, after attending the annual New Hampshire Methodist conference in Littleton. He goes back then to complete the work for another few weeks and then will go into evangelistic work under Dr. George H. Davis, who is head of that department for the board of home missions and church extension. Mr. Tuttle will be associated with him in planning and carrying out a big evangelistic drive to begin next fall.

The work of Mr. Tuttle for the summer is to be largely in going out and conducting coaching conferences at seminars and colleges, this series of conferences for preachers being held at points across the continent.

This year the financial drive is being made and next year the spiritual goal is expected to culminate in the in-gathering of possibly half a million accessions to church membership.

The family of Rev. Mr. Tuttle is now at Pacific Grove, Cal., and he does not expect to see them until he crosses the continent later, conducting conferences for preachers on the trip across. Being assigned to the department of evangelism in the confessional movement.

Rev. Mr. Tuttle made many friends while here and is receiving hearty greetings.

Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, a specialist in horse husbandry, has been appointed by the United States Department of Agriculture to continue her work with the Genesee Valley (N. Y.) Horse Breeders' Association. She is an expert on horse breeding.

WELCOME HOME

Private Daniel J. Crowley arrived on Friday, having received his discharge at Camp Devens. Private Crowley served with the 61st Infantry going overseas in September and he saw active service on the other side. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel

DANIEL J. CROWLEY

Crowley of Dover street, and Friday received a warm greeting from his great many friends here. He is in excellent health and states that they had a rough voyage home but it would take more than heavy seas to dampen their pleasure of getting home again.

He was born in this city April 25, 1906. He enlisted on Aug. 26, 1916 and was called for active service Aug. 20, 1917. At the time he was called he was employed at the Morley Hutton factory.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Navy May Take Them

The Housing Corporation in Washington is consulting with the Navy Department in view of the latter taking absolute control of the three hotels Chamberlaine, Pepperell and Parkfield at Kittery Point.

Will Sail Tonight.

The earlier Old Dominion, will sail for Boston tonight in tow of the tug Hodgey. The Charlestown navy yard is expecting to make the old liner over to a navy theatre ship.

Only Two More Games

The yeomen (F) basketball team will play two more games before closing the season, one of which is expected to be against the Portland Y. W. C. A. at Portland on Thursday next.

Druggist Calls Him Home

Light (junior grade) W. D. Small of the Medical Corps, attached to the yard dispensary was called to his home in Brunswick, Me., on Friday by serious illness in his family.

Praised By The Board

Port Concett, a helper in the Industrial Department, who assisted in the rescue of the two men on submarine S-4 on January 10 has been recommended by the board of investigation as entitled to a commendatory letter from the Commandant of the yard for his work on that date.

Ready for Service

The super dreadnaught Idaho has sailed from League Island yard for the New York navy yard where she will take on supplies. From New York she will put out to sea on her anti-air trip. The battleship Missouri which has been at the Philadelphia navy yard for several weeks for repairs, departed Friday for Brew. She will return with troops.

Cut Their Substance

Owing to the lack of appropriation the chief petty officers attached to the U. S. S. Southey, will receive a cut in their substance pay generally allowed for them when they are forced to locate in quarters ashore. This order will necessarily be followed by the government crowding them into quarters on the ship. Several of the chiefs have been in the service many years and naturally they do not take kindly to the change when the yeaman (P) continue to draw substance money. However the women cannot very well be quartered aboard a ship, thus the situation.

A Full House

The receiving ship at New York at present is caring for 100 or more chief petty officers and the navy department is somewhat puzzled as to just what to do with them.

Early Release for Reserves

Because of the failure of Congress to enact the Naval Appropriation bill, with its provision for an increased naval personnel, practically all members of the Naval Reserve force on active duty must be released immediately upon the declaration of peace.

In making this announcement the Navy Department said that because of this fact and of the great need of officers, due both to the continuing activities of the navy and the shortage of regular officers, it would be inadvisable generally to accept the resignations of reserve officers.

Many of these officers have asked to be permitted to return to civil life, but attention is called by the department to the fact they are under obligation to perform active duty with the navy for a period of not later than six months after the termination of the war. Resignations will be accepted, however, as additional officers are required in the naval force.

Some Class to Yeomen (F)

In order to permit 15 or more yeomen (F) attached to the Commandants office at the Charlestown yard, to witness the arrival of the 20th Division from overseas on Friday, Capt. Irish granted leave of absence to the girls and permitted the use of the captain's barge to convey them down the harbor. They were excused from work until the festivities were finished.

COMMITTEE AGAINST SALISBURY BEACH BEING SEPARATED

The committee on towns in the Massachusetts legislature appears to be against the separation of the town of Salisbury from Salisbury Beach.

The vote was 8 to 7 at first but on another ballot being taken it was 9 to 6. It is understood, however, that owing to some misunderstanding, another vote is to be taken on the bill before making a report.

The project of separating Salisbury Beach from the town of Salisbury has been before the legislature for several years and always bitterly fought. The hearings this year were largely attended.

People residing at the beach during the summer and the big property owners there have long favored being set apart from the town which appears not to have met the beach people even half way in their demands to advance the seashore resort. The day is coming when this division will be made and the old town may as well wake up to the fact sooner or later. The beach section is growing fast through the efforts of the Salisbury Beach Board of Trade, a live organization, and the sooner the old town gets on the band wagon the better.

BOOZE RAIDERS OPENED CASKE

Revenue Officers in Bad; Attorney General to Take Action.

Booze hunters in Virginia have got into trouble and their anxiety to locate liquor beats out the work of the Mining sheriff, who are credited with pulling off some choice stunts. The game has gone so far in Virginia that Attorney General Palmer has taken a hand in it at the request of John L. Payne, general counsel for the railroad administration.

The case in point is the search of a casket, bearing the body of Robert E. Chapman, which was en route to the home of the father, Professor C. Y. Chapman of Norton, Va. The casket was opened at Roanoke, Va., Monday, by revenue officers, who were looking for contraband liquor.

This act in connection with a long series of insults to Pullman passengers and others traveling on trains through Virginia has caused a bitter feeling among the public and finally lead to official action.

FOYE'S

POPULAR MONOLOGUIST TO APPEAR AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Miss Rose Marie Smith, the popular monologist, who is to have the honor of being the first entertainer to appear before the boys of the 24th Division at Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., next week, is to be at the local Y. M. C. A. this evening, and the entertainment is free to the public.

Miss Smith will appear in costume, giving the comedy "Kidnapped." Mrs. Florence Marshall Walker will preside at the piano.

Miss Smith is a young Southern girl of rare grace and charm. Her home is in Florida but she is passing some time in New England, appearing at entertainments for enlisted men, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. War Work Council. She is a pupil of Virginia Bowman Witte of Boston.

She presented "Kidnapped" at the Y. M. C. A. at Fort Constitution, New Castle, last evening and won much applause from her audience. The Misses Marion and Helen McFarlane furnished music, their selections adding to the interest of the entertainment.

On Sunday evening she presents a miscellaneous program at the men's reading room at the navy yard, this to include the first act of "Miss Hobbs," by Jerome K. Jerome; "Tiger Rose," one of Debusse's productions; "The Fattening of David," a comedy, and "The Christmas," by Angelo Morgan.

Miss Smith has also won laurels in her presentation of "The Counsel for the Defense" by Leroy Scott; "Miss Civilization" by Richard Harding Davis; "Per o' My Heart" by J. Hartley Manners and "Many 'Gusta" by Joseph Lincoln.

Miss Smith leaves Monday for Camp Devens, where she is to appear during each evening of the week.

FINE RECITAL AT NORTH CHURCH

The second in the series of Lenten organ recitals at the North church took place last evening, and the audience had the pleasure of hearing a musical program of remarkable worth.

Mr. John Hermann Lund of Boston, the noted organist, gave his second recital in the series and presided at the organ with marked ability. Every selection was given with rare skill and listened to with marked appreciation.

Mr. Hugo Gigante of New York assisted at the recital as violinist and the two artists gave a remarkable program. The numbers were as follows:

War March of The Priests
From "Athalie" Mendelssohn
Hymn of the Nans Lohengrin-Wely
Madrigal Rimsky-Korsakov
Sonnetto Orin
Largo Handel-Whitney
Overture to William Tell Hospital-Ruck
The Rusty Nevin-Gigante
Wilt O' The Wisp Gordon H. Nevin
"Forward March" Morgan
Grand March Wagner
(From "Tannhauser")

Melodie Italiana Verdi-Gigante
Concert Rondo in E Flat Hollins
Mr. Gigante came on from New York to play at the recital and returned again today, having a concert engagement in that city this evening.

He was especially interested to return to Portsmouth for this occasion, as he was formerly a member of the orchestra of the U. S. S. "Frederick" which was at this navy yard not long ago, and whose orchestra is considered one of the finest of the fleet. While here Mr. Gigante appeared with the orchestra at a concert given at the navy yard and also at one at the North Church.

He is now out of the service and is playing at the Radio Theatre in New York. He has been in this country three years, coming from Rome, Italy, the home of his parents. Before coming to New York he taught music with much success in Ecuador, South America, and he possesses a beautiful rosewood violin case, presented him by the daughter of the President of Ecuador as a gift of appreciation of his talent. On the outside of the case is his name in gold letters and with it was a handsomely embroidered cover for the violin and the monogram in the center.

Mr. Gigante said it seemed odd to be in this city in civilian clothes but he was proud to think he had the chance to serve in the American navy during the war.

In the audience were a number of naval officers and enlisted men and the entire gathering enjoyed a rare treat in the superior program. It is hoped Mr. Gigante will appear in this city again.

K. OF C. NOTES

The Past Grand Knights meeting and roll call of the Council on Tuesday night was thoroughly enjoyed by the big crowd that attended. All the past grand knights with the exception of two were present.

The committee on the big ball will meet on next Sunday.

The K. of C. committee on war activities has opened an employment office at the K. of C. home for returned soldiers and sailors. The following letter has been sent out announcing this fact:

Dear Sir:

The Knights of Columbus have opened an employment Bureau at the K. of C. Home for the benefit of discharged soldiers and sailors.

It is well recognized that conditions of society are in a very unsettled state as the outcome of the war. The country faces a grave problem, which can only be met by recruiting every soldier and sailor to industrial pursuits with as little friction as possible.

Under the system adopted the committee can furnish employers with the names of men seeking employment, their previous history and capacity for different kinds of work.

It is the desire of the committee to interest the employer in the work we are undertaking and to ask his cooperation. No charge whatever will be made for the service either to employer or applicant.

You can co-operate with us in this good work by keeping us constantly informed of any vacancies for men. If you will do this we will co-operate with you and endeavor to furnish you with men who are adapted to your particular work and circumstances. Our Secretary in charge of the Home can be readily reached by letter or telephone (29) and will always be at your service.

In view of the unsettled condition of labor and world wide industrial disturbances you will appreciate the necessity for this work and keep in touch with us at all times.

Address all communications to Secretary in charge of Employment Bureau, Thomas P. Gossnell, R. of C. Home, 113 Spring St.

ANTI-CIGARETTE
LAW REPEALED

Soldiers Demanded Their Rights in Nebraska.

The state of Nebraska has repealed its anti-cigarette law which has been in force several years. The repealing soldiers were responsible for a good part in having the law repealed and is highly significant at the present time.

Popular sentiment in favor of the cigarette as a result of its wonderful war record as a human source without equal and popular reaction against all forms of prohibition that infringe upon what the people consider as their "unalienable rights" to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, are undoubtedly the reasons that have influenced the Nebraska legislators in repealing this law at this time.

It is about time that New Hampshire eliminated some of the ironclad laws and awake to the fact that the people are out for progressive legislation which with a few exceptions failed to come forth at the recent session just ended.

There were 53 men and 15 officers from New York city, 155 men and seven officers from New York state, 150 men and six officers from Pennsylvania and 141 men from California, with the other states represented also.

Why You Should Buy Coal Now

The price of coal is 75 per cent determined by wages. The wage agreement at the mines continues until April 1, 1920. The Fuel Administration reports that 35 per cent of the mines cannot make any money at the present miniprices. In view of this, how can coal be cheaper this year?

CHARGE MEDICAL OFFICERS WERE CARELESS

Washington, April 4.—Charges of gross carelessness and negligence in preventing and controlling the spread of typhoid and paratyphoid fever in the Army are made against many medical officers serving with the forces overseas in a circular published by the chief surgeon of the American Expeditionary Forces, in connection with a warning that vaccination does not give immunity from typhoid.

The chief surgeon cites many instances where epidemics prevailed among troops, especially during the last offensive on the Western Front, and points out that the occurrence and distribution of disease constantly was brought to the attention of the medical officers through weekly bulletins, but that some medical officers are grossly careless and neglectful of their duties and responsibilities as medical officers and sanitarians.

The chief surgeon warns his subordinates that now the excuse "there is a war on," no longer will be tolerated and that they will be held responsible for the proper supervision of the health of troops, nearly all of whom are now in stationary training areas or in the Army of Occupation, where proper sanitation and measures can be enforced.

KETONEN TO MEET BILL DRYDEN

Bill Dryden is to meet Waino Ketonen, who now claims the title of middle weight champion of the world, having won that claim by defeating Mike Yonel in Boston on Thursday evening. He previously had several bouts with Yonel and the matches stood two and two, so that by agreement the title was to be at stake in the match on Thursday.

It was a great match, in which Ketonen got the first fall in a short time after the opening, but the second went to Yonel after nearly an hour's time, but Ketonen was too good and threw Yonel for the third fall in sixteen minutes.

Bill Dryden was at the match and afterwards got in touch with Ketonen who readily agreed to meet Dryden here on Tuesday evening. It promises to be a whirling match, for Dryden is a fine white and yellow confidant that he can give the champion a hard battle.

YOKEL LOSES HIS TITLE

Nothing more sensational in the wrestling line has been seen in Boston this past season than the first fall scored by Waino Ketonen over Mike Yonel in the Grand Opera House, Thursday night, paving the way for the shifting of the championship title from Yonel to the Worcester man. This fall had secured for a hold for about two minutes when Ketonen secured a double-arm lock on the champion, while both were on their feet. Yonel struggled in vain to break loose. Ketonen then went down on the mat and turned over, with Yonel underneath, his arms still pinned. The champion was unable to break away and Ketonen was awarded the first fall after two minutes and forty seconds of wrestling.

The large crowd hardly knew what to make of this, but was not disappointed in its faith that Yonel would give them a run for their money in the next two bouts. The champion was more leary when they came out again and frustrated a few attempts on Ketonen's part to get a second double-arm lock. After fifty-two minutes and forty-five seconds, Ketonen's shoulders went in the mat on a body scissors and head lock. Ketonen came back for the third bout full of vim and action. He made it lively for Yonel from start and really won the bout and title, a couple of minutes before the end actually came. Yonel caught him in what looked like an awkward position, and the two went down; but

AS YOUNG AS YOUR KIDNEYS

The secret of youth is ELIMINATION OF POISONS from your body. This done, you can live to be a hundred and enjoy the good things of life with as much "zip" as you did when in the springtime of youth. Keep your body in good condition, that's the secret. Watch the kidneys. They filter and purify the blood, all of which blood passes through them once every three minutes. Keep them clean and in proper working condition and you have nothing to fear. Drive the poisonous wastes and deadly uric acid accumulations from your system. Take GOLD MEDAL HAZELDEN OIL Capsules and you will never be in good condition. You will feel strong and vigorous, with steady nerves and chafing muscles. GOLD MEDAL HAZELDEN OIL Capsules are imported direct from the laboratory at Hazelnden, Holland.

DOVER

Dover, April 5.—The annual prize speaking contest among the members of the Dover high school will occur on or about May 20 and the pupils and their friends are looking forward to the event with daily increasing interest. The contest will take place in the assembly hall of the school building and there will be eight contestants for the prizes to be awarded, two from each of the four classes, seven of the contestants have already been selected and the eighth will be chosen in a few days. Those already selected from each class are as follows: Seniors, James Roberts and Doris Clough; Juniors, Constance Whittier and Bernice McKay; sophomores, Lillian D. Hocking; freshmen, Robert H. Nelson and Ruth A. Melin.

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held at the council chamber in the city building Thursday evening. Many citizens were present as it was expected that Herbert K. Reynolds would appear before the meeting and ask for reinstatement as health officer, a position which he resigned to accept a position under the Federal government. However, Mr. Reynolds did not appear, and there was not a ripple of excitement during the meeting. During the meeting an opinion was read from the city solicitor in regard to the question whether or not Mr. Reynolds was at the present time entitled to resume the duties of the office. The solicitor held that in reality it was largely a question of fact and not of law. That if the war "was over" that Mr. Reynolds was entitled to the place, but if the war could not properly be considered as over until peace was actually declared then attempt on the part of the council might lead to the city being obliged to continue to pay Mr. Whitteley, the present acting health officer, until peace was actually declared.

Herman B. Johnson of Rockland, Me., and Miss Lillian E. Jones of New Brunswick, Me., were married by Rev. Leon Morse, pastor of St. John's M. E. church Wednesday evening at the parsonage. The single ring service was used.

Frank Carroll of the South End Grocery company met with a painful accident Thursday afternoon while operating a coffee grinder at the store. His first fingers got caught in the machine and the bones of the finger were fractured.

John Lenthall of Boston is expected to arrive at Granite State park next week with his stable of trotters and pacers which he will train here for the races in the Bay State short ship circuit, the coming season. Mr. Lenthall has a dozen high class trotters and pacers in his stable.

Charles H. Gerrish died at the home of his brother, Gardner B. Gerrish on the Durham road in Madbury Thursday afternoon, aged 70 years, 4 months and 18 days.

POLICE NEWS

The police captured a north end resident on Friday evening, as he came in on the Boston train, with a suit case full of liquor. He was held charged with keeping for sale.

Another arrest for selling will be made this morning, a witness having been caught who purchased the booze. There were four lodgers applied at the station Friday night, and there is a constant increase in the number of men who are out of work and are traveling about for something to do.

PLAN FOR WORLD-WIDE WIRELESS TELEPHONE SYSTEM UNDER WAY

New York, April 4.—Plans for a world-wide wireless telephone system are being considered by the General Electric company, according to a statement made by Ernest F. W. Alexanderson, consulting engineer of the company, in an address here last night before the American Institute of Radio Engineers.

Mr. Alexanderson declared that two devices invented by him—the bridge receiver and the barrage receiver, would make possible introduction of such a system so that business deals could be transacted in a few minutes by persons thousands of miles apart.

Central offices, he said, would be established in all the principal cities.

Charles Evans of Salem has a little red ticket 55 years old, on which is printed: "Boston and Salem turnpike. Good for one passage over the turnpike between Lynn and Chelsea for a one-horse wagon, June 1, 1864." In the center of the face of the ticket is a picture of a horse and buggy with the price mark, "10 Cents" on either side. On the back of the ticket is the name "William S. Cleveland, Treasurer."

SPRING MEDICINE

Hood's Sarsaparilla is Needed Now As Never Before—

Because, although the war is over, its work, worry and excitement have undermined your reserve strength. Because the coughs, colds, grip and maybe severe illness, have broken down your power of resistance. Because winter's work and close confinement have worn out your stomach and exhausted your blood. Can you afford the good long rest the doctor advises? If not, take a course of the famous old medicine—the one that mother used to take—Hood's Sarsaparilla. It's the finest extract of Nature's purifying, vitalizing and strength-making roots, herbs, barks and berries, such as physicians prescribe, prepared by skillful pharmacists, in condensed and economical form. If you want the best Spring medicine you'll surely get Hood's Sarsaparilla. Hood's Pills help the liver.

VERNON

Portsmouth did not have a soldier on the Mount Vernon although there are eleven local men on the American flag. In all there were about 1300 New Hampshire men in the 26th at one time. There are quite a large number of our boys in the 103rd.

NAME OF O'NEIL WAS OMITTED

The name of Daniel O'Neil one of the men commended by the Acting Secretary of Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt.

volt, for his heroic efforts to save the lives of two men in peril on Submarine B-4 at the navy yard on January 19, was unintentionally omitted from the list of names. O'Neil is a gas welder in the Industrial Department and his work on that occasion was all that any man could do and he is entitled to equal praise with the other workmen mentioned in this paper under date of April 4.

WILL BUILD NEW BUSINESS BLOCK
ON CONGRESS ST.D. H. McIntosh Plans the Erection of Six Story Building.

The building at the corner of Fleet and Congress street, occupied by D. H. McIntosh, is to be removed and replaced by a modern brick structure, possibly six stories. Mr. McIntosh is the owner and Mr. Trafton will vacate the present building within the next three months. The historic Plummer house which occupies the corner will be taken down and moved to another lot to be restored to its original condition. Operations will be started July first and the building when complete will connect with the new portion on Fleet street. It will result in a big improvement to the business section.

The old Plummer house was built in 1783 by Nathaniel Plummer, and later was occupied by William Plummer, father of the famous singer, Henry Clay Plummer. It was later purchased and occupied by George Plummer. For the last twenty years it has been used by D. H. McIntosh for a furniture store. Mr. McIntosh is going to save all the material in the building, as the old frame is as good as the day it was built, and is going to reconstruct it on a lot purchased for same on West street.

THE HERALD HEARS

That under the new passenger traffic the R. & M. has cut the rate one cent on round trip tickets from Portsmouth to Boston.

That there isn't much consolation in this and the present fare reduced to about one-half would meet the public approval.

That stations north of Rochester get a 5-cent cut.

That the local jury men pay the bill passed in the legislature hit them a new wallop.

That the tax rate for 1919 in Portsmouth will be $28.10.

That another ship is expected to be launched at the Atlantic yard this month or the first of next.

That a railroad man of much influence still sticks to the idea that the Boston & Maine railroad will own a share and operate traffic on the new bridge if it comes.

That while two women were discussing the new dress one remarked that her husband liked the clinging gowns.

That the other said her husband liked gowns to cling to her for 5 years or more.

That the Victory Liberty Loan needs more pep.

POLICE COURT

Charles Kogolowski of Bartlett street who was placed under arrest at the depot on Friday night, was heard in the municipal court today on a charge of keeping liquor for sale.

Charles had quite a variety in parts which he claimed that was for three different purposes, viz: a christening, sickness and the health of three boarders. Charles admitted that the boarders were all well and strong at present and the boarder alibi was no use. He stuck to the christening and sickness but nevertheless it cost him $40.52 for his imported goods.

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

Gives Talk at Woman's Building.

Miss Woodruff of the Extension Service of New Hampshire College and public health nurse, gave an interesting and educational talk on "Matters Relating to General Health" yesterday afternoon at the Woman's Building on Middle street.

Miss Woodruff has had much experience at the Presbyterian hospital in New York city, giving up her position during the war to help out in the work of the food campaign. New Hampshire is certainly fortunate to have her as a health expert.

She spoke yesterday of food in its relation to health and she brought up facts well worth hearing. She said there was no need of children having contagious diseases as their resistance to diseases could be built up by proper food. She distributed leaflets giving information about the proper foods for baby building.
